Minimalist Chic

Though Hotel Bocage houses just six rooms, it has maxed out room area, privacy, views and sophistication. Open-plan rooms and suites range from 42sqm to 75sqm complete with floor-to-ceiling sliding doors as well as private balconies that look out to the Gulf of Thailand. The property deliberately abstained from developing an in-house restaurant to urge guests to explore the neighbourhood. Farther excursions are escorted by Star Flag, a Mercedes limo-service for transfers and tours.

QUINTANA ROO

Nature's Embrace

Nestled in lush emerald palms, Tulum Treehouse is a private home set near the Sian Ka'an Biosphere Reserve. Inside are five bedrooms, expansive common areas and several wrap-around terraces created by local craftspeople in collaboration with an international design team, collectively prioritising sustainability above all. This means an abundance of locally sourced organic materials like Tzalam wood, Oaxacan rugs as well as handcrafted finishes designed to appreciate jungle views, breezes and natural light. The property also relies on a full solar setup as well as a two-pronged water treatment and irrigation system.

Millionaire's Mile

The Aquila is a seven-bedroom villa spread across two and a half acres with access to the Andaman Sea, tropical jungle and a natural waterfall flowing from the mountainside. Situated right on the clifftop, the Main Pavilion of 1,100sqm stretches along the cliff-face and features a Bond-inspired spiral staircase, a wet-bar with beer on tap, a red felt pool table and a private movie theatre featuring a 75-inch wall-mounted screen. Guests feeling like a quiet day in can lounge in Twin Tai Salas beside the 30m infinity pool.
